

Family affair at the Excellence in Business Awards.

20.10.14

It was a family affair at the Frankston & Mornington Excellence in Business Awards at the Frankston Arts Centre last week when both Dr Sally Shaw and her husband Michael Savage both won awards for their respective businesses.

Dr Sally Shaw is the owner of Peninsula Skin Cancer Centre in Mornington and Frankston and took home the award for Personal Services and was also the Overall winner of all business finalists. Michael Savage accepted the Hall of Fame award for the Enchanted Adventure Garden, who had won the Tourism business award three years running.

“It was the first time we had entered the business awards for the Peninsula Skin Cancer Centre and we were pretty confident we could win our category, but I’m so excited to win the overall business prize, Michael hasn’t won that one” said Sally as she juggled her trophies and certificates. Michael was very supportive of Sally’s triumphant win saying “Sally has worked very hard over the last ten years to build up her skin cancer practice and deserves to win the overall prize tonight”. “Now the skin cancer clinic will have to work towards joining the Enchanted Adventure Garden in the Hall of Fame” he added.

Peninsula Skin Cancer Centre was rewarded for their high rate of skin cancer detection, detecting one melanoma per day and also for their community awareness programs for skin cancer detection and sun protection. Peninsula Skin Cancer Centre is the major sponsor for Frankston City Council’s Senior’s Festival this month in Frankston.
